NEW ORLEANS, April 27.—Armed with rifles and revolvers, desperate people in the zone to be flooded south of here Friday noon, threatened today to kill any one who attempts to force them to leave their homes and livelihood. Charging that New Orleans and the rest of Louisiana are sacrificing them to save others this band probably will cause trouble according to authorities here.

New Orleans is sufficiently organized for any emergency. Secretary of Commerce Hoover said tonight after conferences with G. V. Simpson, Mayor O'Keefe and army engineers and Red Cross officials.

Major General Gaden, chief of army engineers, joined in assuring the people that New Orleans with the aid of federal and state forces and the Red Cross was prepared for any eventuality.

FOREST WEEK TO BE CLOSED

Richmond's observance of American Forest Week will come to an interesting close tomorrow night with the presentation of a motion picture of California forests, forest fires, fire prevention methods and reforestation work, together with an interesting talk by Newton Drury, at the Roosevelt Junior high school.

This illustrated talk will be a distinctive feature of the entertainment program to be presented under the direction of the Parents-Teachers association for the annual Richmond scholarship benefit fund, sponsored by this organization.

During the week, service clubs, churches, schools and other organizations have entertained speakers on the significance of American Forest Week. Hall W. WHEN BUILDING BUILD RIGHT

No matter what type of building you put up, the completed structure whether it will be pleasing or disappointing, whether it proves to be a good or a poor investment, will depend largely upon the material that goes into it. Lime, plaster, cement and fireproof wall board are important items. It will pay you to consult the Builders Guide on the classified page before investing in them.

ROME, April 27.—Relations between Rome and Belgrade became more tense today as a result of the receipt of information that France, Greece and Yugoslavia are uniting to nullify the pact of Tirana under which Italy now controls 75 per cent of the commerce of Albania.

Messages from Avlona state that owing to a continuance of Jugoslavia's feverish war preparations, Albania is strengthening her border garrisons and calling up reserves.

There is no doubt here that Jugoslavia is determined it possible to annex Albania in order to gain control of the Port of Durazzo which the messages state. Belgrade regards as necessary for the Jugoslavian policy of trade expansion.

Red Cross Representative Tells Need of Flood Relief Measures

Paul Dettmer, field representative for the American Red Cross, is in Richmond cooperating with the local chapter which was recently reorganized for a program of home service work, aid to ex-service men, and a life saving course this summer. Ralph H. Kendrick, life guard at the Municipal natatorium, has agreed to cooperate with the local Red Cross in furtherance of the work planned.

Dettmer, in stressing the need for immediate relief action in the flood area of the Mississippi valley, said:

"It is impossible for one who has not been on the spot to imagine the scenes of desolation and suffering found in a flood stricken zone. The Red Cross is doing its utmost to relieve the misery of thousands of homeless men, women and children who have lost everything by the disaster."

Dettmer recently returned from relief work in the great Illinois flood during the winter months. He expects momentarily to be sent back to the Mississippi area which is experiencing the greatest flood in the history of the United States.

While admitting that the relief work of the Red Cross is indispensable, Dettmer declared that the work of prevention from another such catastrophe must be done by the federal government.

"There are two phases in Red Cross relief measures," said Dettmer. "During the emergency period food, clothing, and medicine must be supplied to the sufferers. When the catastrophe has subsided the work of rehabilitation must be done. Buildings are rebuilt, and repaired, farms are ploughed, and sowing done. "We do not expect the peak in the Mississippi flood will be reached before the middle of May. An exceptionally heavy rainfall has been experienced throughout the Middle West."

"The winter season began early in the year, and continued rains have filled rivers and streams to the bursting point. In Illinois, 20 inches of rain fell from August 29 until October 2. The normal precipitation for the region during the year is but 32 inches. And winter is far from having completed the deadly work. Heavy rains area still falling, and snow is not yet entirely off the ground."

In the meantime the tributaries of the waterways are pouring an increased volume of water into inadequate channels.

Stating that the Red Cross has a great task before it than ever before, Dettmer affirmed optimism in the willingness of all citizens to contribute liberally to the great work which must be done.

Salesman Plays Part Of Modern Adam and Poor
Eve Takes Blame

(By Universal Service)
LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., April 27.—Right back to old father Adam, the original, and perhaps the loudest "squawker" among mankind against women, went Henry Judd Gray in telling how and why he lent his hand to the butchery of Albert Snyder.

She—she—she—that was the bloody song of the little corset salesman as read in the packed court room in Long Island City today.

She—she—she—'twas an echo from across the ages, and an old familiar echo, at that. It was the same old "squawk" of brother man whenever and wherever he is in a jam, that was first framed in the words "the woman gave me of the tree, and I did eat."

It has been put in various forms since then, as Henry Judd Gray, for one notable instance close at hand, put in the form of eleven long typewritten pages that were read today, but in any form, and in any language, it remains a "squawk."

Reception Given New Members of 1st Presbyterian

The First Presbyterian church last evening, after the regular prayer meeting from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock, was the scene of a reception given in honor of a hundred new members. More than two hundred were in attendance and enjoyed the social time and refreshments which followed the service.

The program consisted of songs by the junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Miller, an address of welcome to the new members by Mr. Newsom, a reading by Miss Irma Kruse, and a trio composed of Mrs. C. D. Roe, Mrs. C. C. Miller and Mrs. Clarence Craig, with Mrs. St. John at the piano. The Rev. E. W. Hanley was enthusiastic over the number of new members.

INNER HARBOR DREDGING TO START MAY 20

Dredging in Richmond's inner harbor is scheduled to start on May 20th, according to Fred D. Parr, who was a guest of the Chamber of Commerce directors at their luncheon yesterday.

"I am assured by Captain Pond of the United States board of harbor engineers in this district, that the dredging of the channels and turning basins under the approved plan, calling for 200 foot channels with 30-foot depth, will be started on or about May 20th," said Parr.

"A few minor delays have resulted from the government requests for letters from the Richmond Belt Line Railway and the Bay Counties Land company supplementing the agreements we have with these companies as to certain dredging operations opposite their holdings. However, there is nothing asked by the government that cannot be amicably agreed upon and put in writing by the companies involved. It might be necessary in order to thoroughly clear the situation to purchase an additional strip of waterfront property but this is an emergency that I do not believe will come up."

ROME, April 27.—The Lira today receded to nineteen to the dollar, but the Exodus of Americans increased in volume.

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 27.—Reports reaching here today indicated that some of the foreign powers will enforce their demands for the Nanking outrages upon Eugene Chen without waiting longer on the United States.

It is believed that this action will be taken at Hankow, where Eugene Chen, leader of the Cantonese and held personally responsible for the occurrences, has established his seat of government under the training guns of 45 foreign warships.

The State Department is maintaining absolute silence on the subject, but it was learned officially that there is no immediate intention of dispatching a second demand to Shen. It was intimated that if anything further is said, it will be delayed until the war between the Chen and the North China forces has been decided.

While the policy of the State Department not to join the allies in drastic action to enforce their demands has been applauded at home, it has come in for severe censure from Americans in China. It was learned. It was reported that there is a wide break between the State Department and American Minister MacMurray at Peking, who is understood to have urged the United States to join the powers.

JAVA FIEND STILL, SAYS TITO SCHIPA

(By Universal Service)
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 27.—Tito Schipa, famous concert tenor has quit making his own Java.

So much of the singer's private life was revealed today when he arrived here to visit with friends and to rest for a few days after a concert tour of the south.

Two years ago he declared war on the Quasi-Mocha served in restaurants.

Grimly he obtained an electric percolator which henceforth he carried about with him, from Argentina to San Francisco, from New York to San Sebastian, from Paris to Mexico.

Two years ago in San Antonio, he pointed to his percolator, going full blast in his hotel room and at his piano.

"My two favorite instruments," he said, "I don't practice so much, but I do go after the coffee pot."

Today Schipa smiled sadly when he said:

"The doctor has ordered me to quit my own coffee. Now I have only my piano left."

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instruction. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper. Name you wish on your return envelope. Don't say "city."

SOME POSERS FOR THE OLD TIMERS

Here are some plain questions which I challenge physicians or health authorities or laymen if they feel so disposed to answer:

1. Define the condition, disease or entity you recognize as "the common cold."
2. Explain how chilling of the surface, on wet feet, or exposure to a draft, affects the body, if you believe these have anything to do with "the common cold."
3. How do you account for the notable freedom of arctic explorers from alleged "colds" while they are beyond touch with civilization, and their sudden susceptibility to respiratory infections upon their return to civilization?
4. Can you cite any scientific evidence in support of the theory that exposure to cold or wet "lowers resistance?"
5. Does "the common cold" ever turn into a definite, serious or fatal disease? If so, how do you explain the transmutation?
6. If you believe there is an illness or indisposition not caused by infection, but just "a cold" do you deem it right and fair that the individual so affected go to school, to work or in crowded places?

I do not expect to receive straight answers to these questions. In fact I do not believe straight answers are possible. But in view of the very evident determination of some of the old timers in both fields, medicine and public health, to preserve the tradition of "the common cold," I hope some of these will screw up courage and confront me with a few answers. I shall certainly be delighted to print any answers which seem worthy—and I shall not be the sole judge, but instead we shall submit the answer to outside editorial advice.

Laymen who may feel impelled to submit an answer to question No. 1, are welcome to do so, but they should bear in mind that a long winded presentation of one's theories is not a definition of a disease.

Just for example, here is definition of—

Lockjaw (tetanus), an infectious disease characterized by tonic spasms due to action of a virus produced by a bacillus which enters in earth, in putrefying fluids in manure, and is a normal inhabitant of the intestines of horses, cows, sheep and other ruminants. Diphtheria, a specific infectious disease, characterized by a local fibrinous exudate, usually upon a mucous membrane, and by constitutional symptoms due to toxins produced at the site of the lesion. Arteriosclerosis, a diffuse or general thickening of the arteries beginning in the lining but later involving the whole arterial wall, with consequent narrowing of the caliber, distortion and sometimes brittle hardening of the arteries.

Diabetes, an incapacity of the body to utilize sugar, characterized by the accumulation of sugar in the blood over and above the normal reserve, and the elimination of sugar in the urine.

No medical or health authority, to my knowledge, has ventured to define "the common cold" in this way. I don't believe anyone will venture to define it now.

KING RICHARD I.

By Dr. Elliot Shoring, The Noted Historian

WE DO NOT KNOW EXACTLY WHEN SIR FRANCIS DRAKE WAS BORN, BUT IT WAS ABOUT THE YEAR 1540, IN DEVON-SHIRE, ENGLAND. HE WAS THE YOUNGEST OF TWELVE SONS, AND, BECAUSE OF THE POVERTY OF THE FAMILY, FRANCIS WAS APPRENTICED TO THE CAPTAIN OF A SMALL BARQUE TRADING ALONG THE ENGLISH COAST AND BETWEEN FRANCE AND HOLLAND. SO HE GREW TO YOUNG MANHOOD, HIS BODY STEELLED AND TEMPERED BY EVERY HANDSHIP KNOWN TO THE SEA, AND HIS SPIRIT AND MIND TRAINED FOR THE NAVAL CONQUESTS THAT WERE TO COME. AT THIS TIME, PHILIP OF SPAIN WAS HARASSING THE NETHERLANDS, AND THE HORRORS OF THE SPANISH INQUISITION WERE TALES THAT WERE POURED NIGHTLY INTO YOUNG FRANCIS' EARS. AT THIS AGE HE DEVELOPED AN IMPLACABLE HATRED FOR THE VERY NAME OF SPAIN, WHICH GREW INTO THE MOTIVE POWER THAT DROVE HIM ON TO GREAT DEEDS.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.

The Parent Counselor

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

"What salary will you accept?" "Please meet me in the President's study on Thursday at 9 a.m." "State more explicitly your experience," etc., etc. These are the messages sent out in nearly two hundred letters and twenty telegrams from the President's office of a Western College. Was the President looking for a successor? Was he looking for someone to head the classical department?

Why was he personally interviewing ten applicants? Why did four members of the alumni committee interview them as well as the President? Why did the committee gather eight times for a serious discussion of the applicants? Why did the President make four trips totaling 1600 miles on investigation and interviewing? The selection of a dean or a professor or lecturer is not the selection of a coach. No! It was the selection of a man who, for any price, administration will bring a lot to the college. It is a man who, to obtain an athletic coach means a careful investigation.

All of us are aware of these conditions but we must remember that they are directly blamable on the alumni. The President's heads may pick up a professor or a college graduate and college students who must have a winning team at any cost. It is a man who, to obtain an athletic coach means a careful investigation.

Quilt Fooling

Thought I would see if you could recommend something for an acid condition in the blood. I have tried everything but nothing seems to help. I have given up butter, sugar, salt and buttermilk as I understand they are bad for my condition. T. P. C.

Answer—I advise you to quilt fooling yourself, and if there is anything the matter submit your trouble to the attention of a physician. You are behaving like some silly schoolgirl, with your queer notions about acid condition of the blood and diet.

Sweaty Feet

Please give thru your column a remedy for excessive, foul sweating of the feet. (W. B. E.)

Answer—Paint or sponge the skin of the soles and between the toes, each evening with a solution of formalin as strong as the skin will stand. Usually an ounce of the standard formaldehyde liquor in half a pint of water is strong enough. Let it dry before putting on stockings. Discontinue if the skin begins to become irritated after a week. Occasional resort to this will usually control the trouble.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER

Teachers are not allowed to teach sex, father doesn't know enough and mothers will not. Yet it is the most important thing for children to understand. Whose job is it?

ANSWER—Oh, my! Oh, my! It is not as bad as that. I should rather say: "The fathers can't mothers do" and "The teachers shouldn't." I grant the importance of the subject, yet I do not agree with you that it needs to be emphasized to the extent that your statement implies. Much fine indirect teaching is done by parents and schools.

Many direct questions are partially answered by mothers or fathers as the occasion arises. I say "partially" because no one would explain in detail the facts of life to an immature mind.

Nature study and biology in the schools are good introductions to the definite instruction which should be given by the parents.

What Every Girl Should Know

GISA PRUCHONE

Copyright, 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. "WHAT EVERY GIRL SHOULD KNOW," with Patsy Ruth Miller, in a Warner Bros. picture of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Sullivan—slender, beautiful, red-headed—is the meteor of the Garden City tennis tournament. A poetical, queerly spiritual girl is Mary, despite her physical prowess. She has grown up with tennis balls. Her mother died seeing them for a living. Her spirit lives on in Mary. Mary becomes acquainted with Wally Mason, a young reporter. Wally and Mary have common sense. Mary keeps house for her brothers, David and Robert. David, the family support, hopes Mary will get safely married; but Mary disbelieves in love. Wally takes her for a ride, and mases.

"Then," Wally philosophized, "you're handed a nasty wallop from the eternal blue, for no darn good reason that you can see, and it leaves you bleary for a while. Then the clincher out, you either get it out yourself or some kind soul helps you, or tries to," with a grin at Mary—"and you sail along cockily as before. Sometimes the wallop is a big one, though—and you lose an eye—then what do you do, oh, Dolores, my lady of pain? You are Dolores, my lady of Pain, you understand, because you are going to be a big hurt to me, sweet. Don't wrinkle your forehead at me. It isn't pretty—what I can see of it between those hands of yours. Don't you believe it!"

"That I will be a lady of pain to you?"

"Yes."

"Of course not, silly."

"No?" quizzically. "You are certain of that? Can I depend upon that? You won't hurt me ever, Elaine?" and the quizzical look was gone. He saw the road before them.

Wally mused.

"The never danced with you," Wally murmured.

being swallowed up as they sped over it, yet it was with his mind's eye. His being was quivering with the knowledge of but one thing in the world, and that was Mary beside him. He felt for her hand where she held it over her cheek, and pulled it down to rest in his where it lay between them. And then with the reversion that she had grown to expect from him, "Tell me Elaine—what would you do to if the best from the time came to you and your road was dimmed for a while?"

CHAPTER III

She remembered that ever after it was wrong to speak of coincidence, casually like that, with never a thought as to the depth that may lie behind it. It was wrong, she thought, and that queer gnawing pain at her heart leaped again, and wrought it even further and further into her being. Coincidence was a warning from Fate, a warning to watch the road ahead, a warning of a detour. Coincidence was the bell fate rang when you reached the railroad crossing of life, when you reached a point where the white bars were to be lowered, and your journey ahead stopped for a while. They when the bars are raised you may lack a very essential part of you, and really feel that you cannot make the grade, but there is no turning back. You go on, nevertheless, because that is life. And eventually, this part of you that you deemed so essential at one time, this part of you that you learned the bitter lesson of doing without, but the memory of its possession is always with you, and gnaws at your breast, as it did at Mary's. Just now it didn't seem as if she ever would go on. There was nowhere to go, with part of her gone, like that. She couldn't take a step without the wince of pain. Why not remain still and linger in memories? Memories of her dear, dead mother. Then she learned that she must go on—and did, somehow—two denouement boys, when she reached there—no why—especially why.

So very blithely she answered Wally, "What would I do if the road were dimmed for a while?—I'd keep the chasm, and go right merrily on!" and was very triumphant.

"Can anybody, including the stars, after seeing you once, ever let you go?" he asked.

"Do go on," she murmured drowsily. "I love to hear you talk. It's soothing. I love it. I could sleep. It's soothing. I love it. I could sleep. I'm mimicked. 'Sit up and take your compliments like a lady. And I'm not. Incidentally, telling you bed time stories.'"

RICHMOND HI GRIDSTERS START SPRING PRACTICE

STRONG ELEVEN PREDICTED FOR 1927 CAMPAIGN

Richmond Union high school will be represented during the 1927 football season by one of the strongest eleven in years. This is the opinion of Ivan Hill, athletic director at the local school, who is now putting candidates for the team through a light spring practice.

With sixteen lettermen back from the 1926 squad, as well as promising players from last year's class, B team and Roosevelt Junior high school eleven, Hill is fortified with a wealth of material.

The lettermen from last season include Jackson, center; Blamantini and Roundtree, guards; Fisher and Shaefer, tackles; Joe Baldwin and Fitzpatrick, ends; Joe Williams, quarter back; Swenson and Scarella, halfbacks; C. Baldwin, fullback; other lettermen expected to be out for places on the team are: Alimonte, Bumgarner, Saki and Mitch Millicovich.

The Class B team will be represented among the candidates by Gordon, McAllister, Judd, Arnold, Hall and Lane. The Class B eleven enjoyed a successful season, winning four games, losing one and tying one.

Hill is being assisted in putting the candidates through their paces by Bob Caldwell, captain of last year's eleven. Roosevelt Junior high school players out for spring practice are being handled by Walter Siegel, former high school star and quarterback on St. Mary's freshmen eleven last season.

R. U. H. S. In Dual Meet With Oakland Friday

The University of California oval will be the scene of a closely contested track and field meet tomorrow afternoon when the Richmond and Oakland high school tracksters meet in dual competition.

Richmond has already taken the measure of Oakland in triangular meets this season, but the Acorn cinderpath artists are confident that they can turn the tables on Coach Hill's stars in a dual meet.

Hill plans to have Olson, his crack miler, cut loose today in an effort to record a good mark in the four-lap event. Olson has already bettered 4:45 for the mile this season, and on a first-class track like the California oval is expected to do 4:40 for the race.

George M. Morris, Richmond Union high school band and orchestra director, will act as a judge in the contest of high school bands and orchestras of Marysville and surrounding cities on April 29.

P. C. L. President Deplores Rowdy Tactics On Ball Field

OAKLAND, April 27.—Harry A. Williams, president of the Pacific Coast League, today issued the following statement with regards to the recent clashes in Los Angeles between ball players and umpires:

The baseball umpire perhaps occupies the most difficult position in sports whether amateur or professional. This should not be so and dates back undoubtedly to laxity in the early days of the game. It is a condition that has been largely remedied in the major leagues at the pain of much bitterness between club owners and league presidents during the period of this constructive change, and can be remedied in the minors.

Of course, there can never be removed the possibility of an occasional and serious clash, any more than a city can guarantee immunity to occasional violence on its streets. The human element will continue an imperishable element in baseball as in other things, a factor which is more likely to be emphasized in a calling which is competitive and therefore combative. But unsportsmanlike spectacles can be reduced to a minimum together with useless and senseless wrangling.

In football, in track, in tennis, in hockey, and in every other line of sports an official's ruling is respected and regarded as final. Even in professional boxing which is perhaps the most strenuous sport, a referee's decision is seldom protested except briefly by one of the contestants and assaults on a ring referee have been very rare. Such an assault

Richmond High Loses Contest To St. Mary's

The Richmond High school baseball team went down to a 4 to 1 defeat at the hands of the St. Mary's high school nine yesterday afternoon in Oakland. It was the first defeat in seven games for the local tossers, who had previously hung up a record of six straight victories.

Merle Anderson pitched good ball for Coach Hill's charges, allowing the St. Mary's preps but five hits. However, the hits were bunched together, and coupled with some heady base running on the part of the winners, gave them a well deserved victory.

Richmond filled the bags in the last inning but the Oaklanders stopped the rally after but one run had been scored.

The Richmond lineup: Anderson, p; Swenson, c; Baldwin, 1b; C. Pinto, 2b; Gordon, ss; Williams, 3b; J. Pinto, lf; Glum, cf; Baldwin, rf.

DEMPSEY SIGNS FOR BOUT WITH SPANISH BOXER

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, April 27.—After months of uncertainty, of speculation and of doubt, the land of Queensberry heard glad tidings today. Jack Dempsey, regarded by many as the greatest heavyweight champion that ever lived, has answered in the affirmative.

The Manassas mauler, will come back. He will attempt to regain the crown he lost to Gene Tunney on September 23, 1926, at Philadelphia. He stands ready to fight on July 1.

Gus Wilson, who carried a letter of credential written by Dempsey, which described the bearer as "Gus Wilson which you know is my confidential friend," gave the ex-champion's decision to Tex Rickard.

Not only has Dempsey made up his mind to come back, but he is willing to prove his right to a return match for the title. Wilson was empowered to enter Dempsey as a delayed starter in Rickard's elimination tournament.

Five minutes after his conference with Wilson, Rickard announced his complete plans for the final round on the championship tournament. They are:

June 25 or July 6—Jack Dempsey vs. Paulino Uzcudun.
August 9—Dempsey-Paulino winner vs. Maloney-Sharkey winner.

September 20—The August 9 winner vs. Gene Tunney.
"It is possible to advance the championship match to early in October," said Rickard. "I would not consider holding the title bout in September, and if I cannot secure a later date I will jump into October."

Rickard's first match for Dempsey, it will be seen, is against Paulino Uzcudun, the ballyhooed basque, who, Rickard is convinced, will be a tremendous card. Rickard declares he believes the Dempsey-Paulino match will draw a gate of $700,000.

At present, Paulino is under suspension for refusing to fulfill a contract with a Boston promoter. Rickard believes the commission will reinstate the Spaniard when the contract which caused the trouble is brought forth.

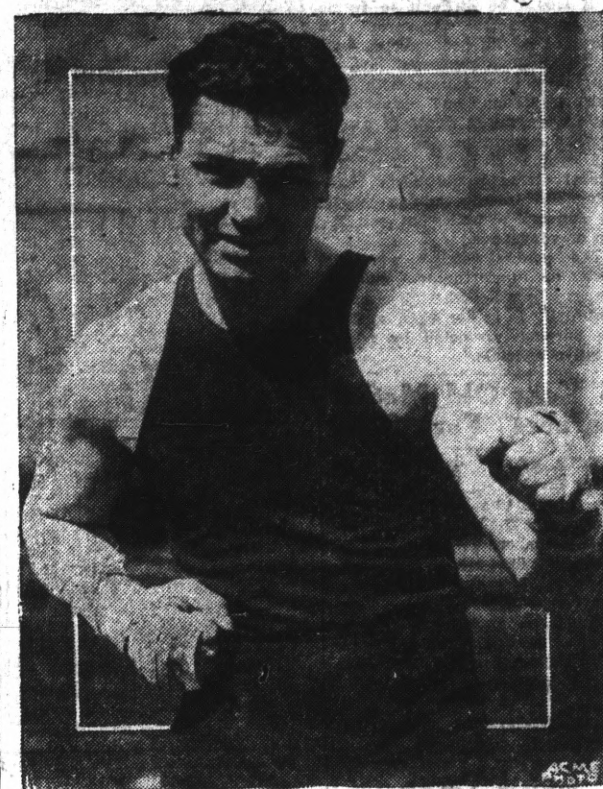

In his conference with Rickard, Wilson said the former champion has convinced himself that he can regain his title. Dempsey feels he was beaten by his mental condition last September.

"Dempsey asks no favors," Wilson told the promoter. "He is ready to prove himself against any opponent you name. He was started light boxing, and he will be ready to step into the ring by July 1."

Coast to Coast Foot Race To Be Staged By Pyle

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—A Los Angeles-to-New York marathon foot race to be held in February, 1928, with a $25,000 prize for the winner, was announced today by C. C. Pyle, professional sports promoter.

No one is barred from the marathon, and Pyle predicts an entry list of more than a hundred runners. Hugo Quist, former manager of Paavo Nurmi, famous Finn distance runner, has been commissioned to scour northern Europe for marathoners while another representative will be named for southern Europe.

The Tarahumara Indians from the Chihuahua Sierras of northern Mexico, one of whom set a new world's record last week in winning the Lawrence-Kansas City race, have signed several entries.

An Arab, whose 96-mile run as a messenger during the Rift uprising inspired Pyle to hold the transcontinental race, has been entered.

The runners will follow no set schedule. They can run when they like, and each will have a judge or a group of judges with him. These will be supplied by the cities passed through. Pyle estimated that the winner would have to average 32 miles a day.

The marathon is expected to take three months to complete and from the winner's van and trailer, running exhibitions and endorsement of advertised products as well as "inducements" to be offered by cities along the route. Pyle said it would mean $250,000 profit for the promoter.

The $25,000 first money will come from Pyle's own pocket-book but he expects the additional nine prizes beginning with $10,000 as a second place award to be advanced by cities along the 3000 mile route.

SAN DIEGO—Pacific Tel. & Tel. company will spend $1,221,900 on its service here.

'She Did It' Affirms Sash Slayer; Cold Looks Answer

aren't you?" "She kissed me," she did this. "She did that. Always she—she—she—ran the confession of Henry Judd, as recited to the jury in the trial of Gray, and Mrs. Ruth Snyder, the "she" of the story, for the killing of her husband.

And "she"—the woman accused—how did she take this most gruesome "squawk," that ever fell from the lips of a man?

Well, on the whole, better than you might expect.

You must remember it was the first time she had ever heard the confession of the man who once called her "mommie." She probably had an inkling of it, but not its exact terms.

For a few minutes her greenish-blue eyes gleamed with such fury that I would not have been surprised to see her leap up, grab the widow sash weight that lay among the exhibits on the district attorney's table and perform the same offices on the shrinking Gray with it that he says she performed on her sleeping husband.

Her thin lips curled to a distinct snarl at some passages in the statement. She once emitted a puff of breath in a loud "phew," as you have perhaps yourself over some tall tale.

The marble mask was comforted by her emotions for a silent denial of the astounding charges of Gray, then finally she settled back calmly, watchful, attentive, and with an expression of unutterable contempt as the story of she—she—she ran along.

Contempt for Henry Judd, no doubt. True, she herself "squawked" on Henry Judd, at about the same time Henry Judd was "squawking" on her, but it is a woman's inalienable right to "squawk."

As for Henry Judd, I still doubt that he will last it out. He reminds me of a slowly collapsing lump of talow.

He acts as if he is only semi-conscious. If he was a fighter and came back to his corner in his present condition they would give him smelling salts.

The man is a wreck, a strange contrast to the alert blonde at the table behind.

Mrs. Snyder's attorneys, the pugnacious Edgar Hazleton and the sharp Dana Wallace, who remind me for all the world of a brace of restless terriers with their bristling manes, began making an effort today that shows they intend trying to make Henry Judd the goat.

They are obviously seeking to prove that Henry Judd did the actual killing.

When District Attorney Richard Newcombe stood up to read Gray's confession, a deep silence fell

Final Rites Held For Mrs. Lumsden

Final rites and interment were held yesterday in Sonoma for Mrs. Pearl Lumsden, who passed away Tuesday at her home in Richmond, 443 1-2 Twelfth street.

A native of San Jose who had lived in Richmond for the past 18 months, she was the wife of Thomas E. Lumsden, and sister of Mrs. C. H. Baird, Mrs. C. E. Lumsden and J. R. Goldsworthy and daughter of Mrs. Jane Goldsworthy, all of Groveland, Calif. Wilson and Kratzer of Richmond were in charge.

over the room, packed from wall to wall. Many of the spectators were standing. Mrs. Snyder leaned forward on the table in front of her, but Gray never raised his eyes from the floor, then or thereafter.

You could hear little gasps as of horror or unbelief from some of the women spectators as Newcombe read on in a cold, passionless voice, especially when the confession got down to the actual murder.

It began with the story of their meeting in Henry's restaurant about two years ago.

"She is a woman of great charm," said Gray, "I probably did not have to tell you that. I did like her very much and she was good company and apparently a good pal to spend an evening with."

Well, they got very friendly, and soon she was calling him up and writing him. "She played me pretty hard," he said. He went out to her house for luncheon, and met her mother, although he did not think the mother knew anything of their relations.

Presently Mrs. Snyder got to telling him of her unhappiness with Albert, her husband. Gray told her, he says, that he himself was married and had a fine wife and was very happy at home, so there could never be anything between him and Mrs. Snyder.

She told him of several attempts she had made on Albert Snyder's life, once giving him sleeping powders, and again bi-chloride of mercury.

Finally, said Gray, "she started to hound me up on this plan to assist her."

He said he absolutely refused to listen to his charmer's sanguinary wiles at first, then "with some veiled threats and intensions of love making she reached the point where she got me in such a whirl that I didn't know where I was at."

How much different does this sound from "the woman gave me of the tree and I ate it?"

Now then I quote from Henry Judd verbatim. Read, had see if in all your mortal days you ever read anything like this:

"I went over to her home about two weeks ago tonight on a call from her that day at the office, and I think I walked Queens village streets for two hours and a half and absolutely gave up any idea of it. I started to hear from her again when I got out on the road and called her up, and she said this night of last Saturday."

Men Who'll Try Judd Gray and Ruth Snyder

The twelve good men and true who will decide the fate of Judd Gray and Ruth Snyder. They are: William E. Young, Charles Meissner, Philip McCabe, Alfred Kramer, Herman Bullweg, John Schneider, John F. Connolly, Louis Ruchdaschel, Everett Van Vranken, George Ziegler, John V. Anderhyde and Frederick J. Grob.

day when they were going to a party, that she would leave the doors open that I might get in.

"So went in the house and I when they drove up to the front. I had to duck up stairs as I was three quarters down."

"I went back to her mother's bedroom and sat there and she came in and came up stairs."

"The implements were underneath her mother's pillow. She had written me about all the plans and details of what I was to do."

"I purchased a window weight and I purchased the chloroform for her. I brought the handkerchief also. This may sound as though I was more than vitally interested in the outcome. I wasn't because I never really in my own mind thought that I would go through with it."

"As I was saying, she came in that night and said 'you are going to do it, aren't you?' I said 'I think I can.' I sat there for probably an hour. They got in about two o'clock and I told her to go back into bed, figuring that I could steal away."

"But she didn't go; she sat right there at the door-way and I started after her. She went first, I followed her."

"We went into the bedroom and it was I that hit the first blow. With this window weight. I scarcely know what did happen for a short time."

"He got me by the neck-tie and I think, I am positive, that she started to belabor him with this sash weight after that. She had the bottle of chloroform and handkerchief, which she poured on the bed. I don't know whether she gagged him or not. She passed me a necktie and I tried to tie his hands and I couldn't. She tied his hands with a towel and gave me a necktie to tie his feet, and she covered up his head."

"He was still alive the last time I heard. She said 'he is dead?' I said, 'no,' she said, 'things has absolutely got to go through.'"

"I said, 'well I am through.' I had lost the picture wire. There were two pieces and I am pretty sure, if you gentlemen said that there was wire around his neck, that it must have been tied by her."

She burned the bloody shirt that he changed for one of Snyder's, the confession said. She also burned a robe of her's that was covered with blood. Also he thought, a nightgown. She hid the sash weight that he had wrapped in paper, first stripping off the paper. He said he had put the paper around the iron bar because he didn't think it would hurt so much.

HUNDREDS ARE RESCUED FROM ROOFS, LEVEES

aid rapidly increasing. Hundreds of refugees were rescued from rooftops and levees today. They had been marooned in these isolated places for many days. Many were suffering acutely from hunger.

The river had come to a standstill at Helena, Ark., today and was falling from that point north to Cairo. Land was beginning to show above the water in northern Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois and Kentucky. Some of the refugees will be able to return to their homes within the next week.

But down river, below Helena, the flood was still spreading, with New Orleans making final preparations to meet the crisis when it comes within the next five or six days.

While plans have been made to cut the levee a few miles south of New Orleans rivermen contend a break is liable to occur north of New Orleans. If a break should occur on the east bank New Orleans will be safe but a wide expanse of Louisiana on the east coast will be inundated.

The breakage that occurred at New Madrid and above Greenville have checked the head of water approaching New Orleans. The water will all eventually flow down the main channel but millions of cubic feet have been retarded by taking a round-about way through Bayous opened to the flood by the broken levees.

The water from the stops landing crevasse flooded Greenville, through.

"I said, 'well I am through.' I had lost the picture wire. There were two pieces and I am pretty sure, if you gentlemen said that there was wire around his neck, that it must have been tied by her."

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The Red Cross today received the $3,000,000 mark for Mississippi river flood relief and the government dispatched a large fleet of small craft to rescue thousands of marooned refugees in imminent danger of death from the raging waters.

Coast guard ships from every gulf port are being rushed to the river, the larger for duty in the lower reaches near New Orleans and the smaller for the upper river. In all, 100 ships are to be impressed into service from the coast guard.

The largest single unit, a fleet of 27 motorized life boats, is being sent by rail from Chicago and will probably be launched at some town in Louisiana near where the greatest number of refugees may be reached. These are in Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi.

In the Arkansas flood area alone nearly 50,000 refugees are marooned on the high ground. There are 10,000 at Helena alone, over 9,000 at Forest City, 5,000 at Marvell and 4,200 at Pine Bluff.

Other groups of a few hundred are scattered at scores of small towns, making up a total of 48,000. As fast as possible they are being evacuated to places of safety. Where their position is believed to be secure the army is supplying them with tents and blankets. Vaccines are being distributed by airplane to prevent epidemics.

The War Department received a telegram from Major General Malin Craig declaring that the situation at Greenville, Miss., and from there to the mouth of the river is critical and alarming. Anticipating that thousands will be swept from their homes as the great flood sweeps south, the War

Seized Rum Ship To Be Released

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The Department of Justice will not appeal from the court decision holding the seizure of the steamer Federalship, alleged rum-runner, unjustifiable, it advised the district attorney at San Francisco by wire today.

Prompt release of the vessel was expected to follow this decision. The Federalship was seized far beyond the twelve-mile treaty limit, and the prescribed "hour's sailing distance" from shore, although American vessels have been seized far out, on the ground of previous offenses. The department held that this procedure could not be followed in the case of a foreign vessel.

At the same time Nichols asked the courts to grant him control of his wife's fortune during the time she was confined in the nursing home.

It was following the news of her daughter's entry into this rather well guarded private clinic that Mrs. Vanderbilt crossed the Atlantic to rescue her daughter. Her first step was to entrust the case to Dr. Field Malone's Paris office, from where Malone's partner, Leslie Nafziger, rushed to Nice and succeeded in releasing Barbara and causing the action for control of her fortune to be withdrawn by her husband.

Mrs. Vanderbilt is reported to have been much upset by the case which friends say will, on advice from the family and especially from Madame Balsan, the former Duchess of Marlborough, find its solution before the summer is over at the hands of a Paris divorce judge.

Neither party could be reached today. Nichols is motoring somewhere in France, while Barbara is reported to be living quietly at a secret retreat on the Riviera.

BRIDGE STORY WILL BE TOLD

complete story of this great enterprise, the building of the world's largest highway bridge, the breaking of the water barrier that has kept the fertile and picturesque Northern counties from immediate contact with the bay city communities," said Wilson. "The talk by Derleth, a world-renowned figure in the engineering world, a Californian who knows his state and its problems, is one well worth hearing. Then, too, Richmond is intensely interested in the economic value of the Carquinez Bridge and Derleth will emphasize this feature in his talk."

Richmond likewise is to have a large representation at the opening ceremonies on May 21st and we expect to have not less than 1,000 automobiles in the Richmond caravan. Arrangements have been made for a parking space for Richmond motorists on the South side of the bridge."

She Was Jes' Plain Put Out After The Walk

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 25.—I'm just disappointed—that's all. So remarked Mrs. Louise Tompkins, 92, who was returned to the Old Ladies' Home after she had eluded attendants and walked four miles to "see the world."

When found she was carrying a loaf of bread and a piece of cheese. Physicians who examined her marveled at her stamina.

CALIPATRIA—494 carloads of livestock and vegetables shipped from Calipatria during month of March.

Department has directed that a large refugee camp be erected at Baton Rouge, La. immediately.

The Red Cross has called upon the army to supply them with 25,000 each of typhoid, paratyphoid and small pox vaccines, to be used to combat epidemics which may possibly follow the flood.

VANDERBILT SCION TO ASK DIVORCE SOON

(Copyright 1927 Universal Service)

PARIS, April 27.—Barbara Rutherford Hatch Nichols, daughter of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., is expected within a few weeks to start a suit for divorce against Winfield Nichols, who about a year ago was reported to be the leader of a Nyack, N. Y., love cult colony.

The suit, however, intimates, is not based on Winfield's alleged leadership of the love colony, but simply on the grounds of cruelty.

According to well founded reports from Nice, Barbara was recently interned in a nursing home at the request of her husband who alleged his wife was a dipsomaniac and consistently preferred the company of her women friends to that of her lawful husband.

At the same time Nichols asked the courts to grant him control of his wife's fortune during the time she was confined in the nursing home.

It was following the news of her daughter's entry into this rather well guarded private clinic that Mrs. Vanderbilt crossed the Atlantic to rescue her daughter.

Her first step was to entrust the case to Dr. Field Malone's Paris office, from where Malone's partner, Leslie Nafziger, rushed to Nice and succeeded in releasing Barbara and causing the action for control of her fortune to be withdrawn by her husband.

Mrs. Vanderbilt is reported to have been much upset by the case which friends say will, on advice from the family and especially from Madame Balsan, the former Duchess of Marlborough, find its solution before the summer is over at the hands of a Paris divorce judge.

Neither party could be reached today. Nichols is motoring somewhere in France, while Barbara is reported to be living quietly at a secret retreat on the Riviera.

Safety Program Need Stressed

Under the direction of Charles Robertson, supervisor of safety of the Pullman company on this coast, a program has been arranged under which it will be easy to put into effect the slogan adopted, "Make May 1, No Accident Month."

Robertson said, "The safety program of the Pullman company extends to all divisions of the company's operations, including the rolling stock in service and the private life and activities of our employees. Thus each employee has brought to him a message of safety in the home and in his automobile."

"Use of a safety program has vastly cut down the time lost by men in recovering from injuries, and contrary to a general opinion, has increased production. Addition of safety devices to operations in our plant has made it possible for workers to do their tasks with greater peace of mind and hence greater efficiency."
